Saddlebag Lid Organizers 3501-1418 EX000957 (Rev 05-21)

17801 SOUTH SUSANA ROAD, RANCHO DOMINGUEZ, CA 90221

PH: 310.638.1222

INSTALLATION:

1. Open your motorcycle's saddlebag lid. Support the lid on a stool or a box with a soft towel to rest on. You'll be detaching the saddlebag lid and don't want it to drop or damage your paint.

2. Next, remove the four fasteners that hold the webbing (A).

3. Remove the latch release lever (B) by undoing the single screw on the inside of the bag lid.

4. Detach the saddlebag lid from the hinge (C).

5. Remove the latch assembly (D) from the inside of the saddlebag's lid.

The Saddlebag Lid Organizer will affix to the lid's inner surface with adhesive hook 'n loop tape, and the latch mechanism will be reinstalled on top of the organizer.

6. Test fit the correct (right/left) Saddlebag Lid Organizer onto the inside of the saddlebag lid. The latch assembly will be reinstalled over the organizer, so correct placement is critical. Using a pencil to mark the organizer's location is recommended.

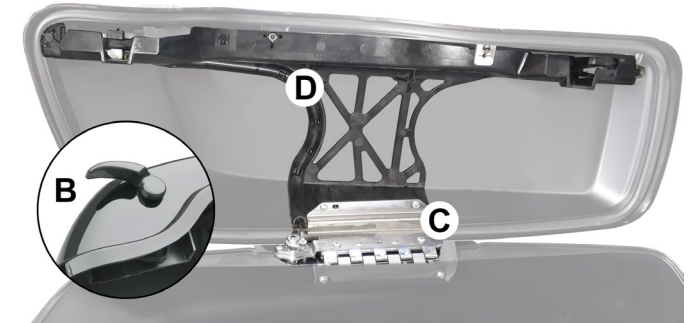

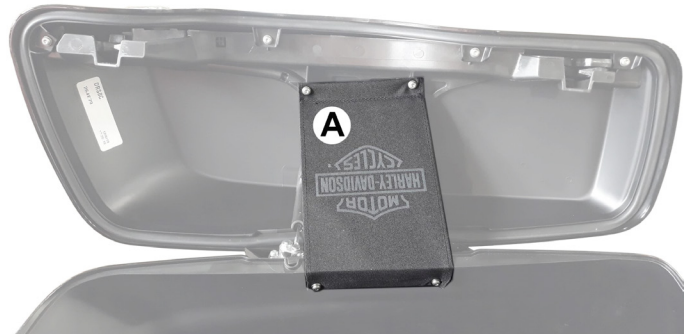

7. Clean the saddlebag lid's inner surface well, removing any dirt or oil. Wiping with an alcohol swab is recommended.

8. When you're confident of the organizer's placement, remove the protective strips from the adhesive hook 'n loop (E), and press firmly onto the saddlebag lid.

9. Reinstall the latch mechanism, hinge and latch release lever in reverse order. Photo (F) is how the finished product should look.

10. Reattach the webbing.

11. Perform steps 1-10 on the other saddlebag.

IMPORTANT:

NOTE: In about 24 hours, the fastener strip adhesive will be at full strength and you'll be able to remove the organizer from the saddlebag lid by separating the hook and loop material. Reattach the webbing and tighten the retention screws.

NOTE: Use caution when tightening the retention screws; they are turning into a plastic saddlebag so stop screwing them in once they are firmly seated.

After 50 miles (80 kilometers) of riding, recheck that both Lid Organizers' mounting is still secure.
